

6. Having the Furnace Checked Out...

November 07 2020

... and other common ground.

This is election week 2020, I guess you would call it. And sure enough on the Friday, at least among my Twitter contingent—and other real friends in the freedom ‘neighborhood’ here in the SE Michigan area—we’re still reading and hearing about major voting shenanigans by the Michigan, and other swing-state, Democratic machinery in the presidential race. It goes higher, of course.<sup>1</sup>

[Probably, this one will wind up in the Supreme Court, too.]

I have an appointment to clean out my old Bryant heater.

Chad—not his real name, but seems fitting in honor of the Republican Party machinations to steal the prez election in 2000—is on his way. I’ll give a plug to his real company, Efficient Energy of New Hudson, who has been doing my major appliance work since dear Mom was living here and oh so special. I believe it was she who first found E<sup>2</sup>, while I was away contracting.

2020 is the “season of covtardia,”<sup>2</sup> as I’ve mentioned in previous beams.

The optimist in me believes the season will end as the facts come in, this year.

And part of this sense of optimism comes from the simple man-to-man w/Chad that commences almost at his point of arrival. Company image is likely the reason for the mask, though Chad wears his the better to breathe ‘round. They’re busy these days, as one might imagine, weather being springlike.

Forgot how I delved into it, something like, “The Biden rallies had, like, 10 people with face masks, Trump 10s of thousands, mostly muzzle free. What’s up with that? Did it seem to you, Chad, like a TV show with a foregone conclusion?”

“Yes, it did,” he replied, simply. “When I went to bed Tuesday night, Trump was leading by lots. I wake up, Biden gained just enough to give him the lead.”

“Like the mainstream was part of it...”

“For sure.” I sensed he was Trump-inclined but not Trump-deluded.

Clearly we were on the same wavelength, so I continued:

“Yeah, I have friends who went down to Detroit to poll watch and weren’t allowed access to the tables. Overnight vote dumps in Michigan and Wisconsin went 100,000+ Biden to 0 for Trump (and all of the 3d-party candidates, too), like how does that ever happen? Most of those ballots were solely marked Biden, the presidential race only. Twitter was censoring journalists pointing out this stuff.”

Chad: “The mainstream-sosh media, it’s all propaganda. Worse than ever.”

“You got that right.” Yet I’m thinking does it really matter who the GCS picks?

He was set up now, real work underway, so time for me to close down the chat box and let him get at it. He works efficiently—time is money. Verdict: my 42-year-old Bryant is hanging in there like Iron Man. Chad says that even the heat exchanger is holding up well (leaks require new furnace): “They used thicker-gauge stainless steel in those days.” $115. I give him what tip I can—I’m on fumes.

Told him I get down to Huron Valley Guns in his neck of the woods, “helped out with the petition to end the governor’s lockdown.” He says he loves that store, “it’s a shrine.” Another armed patriot. May see him again shortly... if ARII has to happen.

<sup>2</sup> Covtardia (the ‘mass-batshit-crazy disease’) = gullible acceptance of the mainstream ‘covid’ official story that a meaningless positive test for an unidentified virus => an infection that will kill you [when 90% of the positives have no symptoms and a cheap, 99% cure(s) exists for serious symptoms fraudulently called ‘covid’] so governments lock down, isolate, and mask everyone to bury businesses, livelihoods, and lives.
